VOORHART

We are going, heaven knows where we are going, we'll know we're there.

We will get there, heaven
knows how we will get there, we know we will.

It will be hard we know
and the road will be muddy and rough, but we'll get there, heaven knows how
we will get there, we know we will.

Our community is composed of many different faces, attitudes and convictions. St. Mark's Community is unique; considering all the differences that exist. However, there is one goal that everyone works for -- TOGETHERNESS. Two particular segments of our community which are essential, and at times taken for granted, are the Sisters of St. Joseph and Fr. Muroski, our Vocation Director.

Sisters Josina, Edmund, Barbara Ann, Verena and Anastasia are dedicated to St. Mark's in different areas but work for one ideal; our well being. Without them the meals would be deficient, our money would not be protected, and the priests would have to serve themselves. It is by no means an easy job and for this we give recognition.

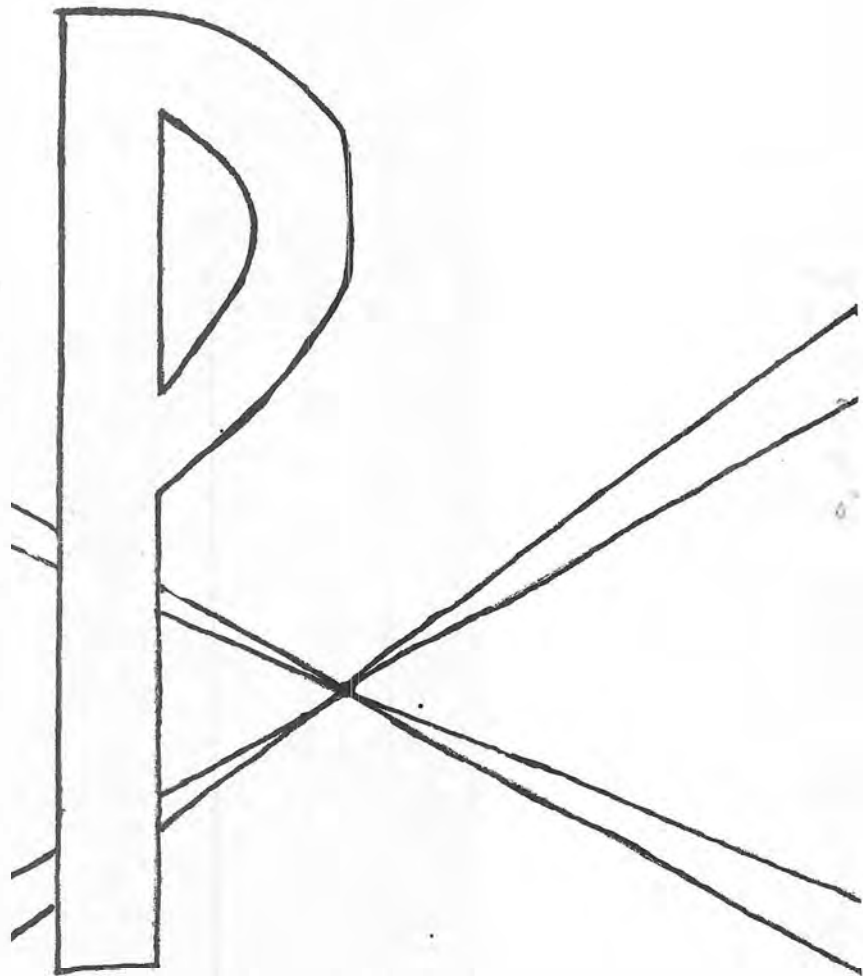

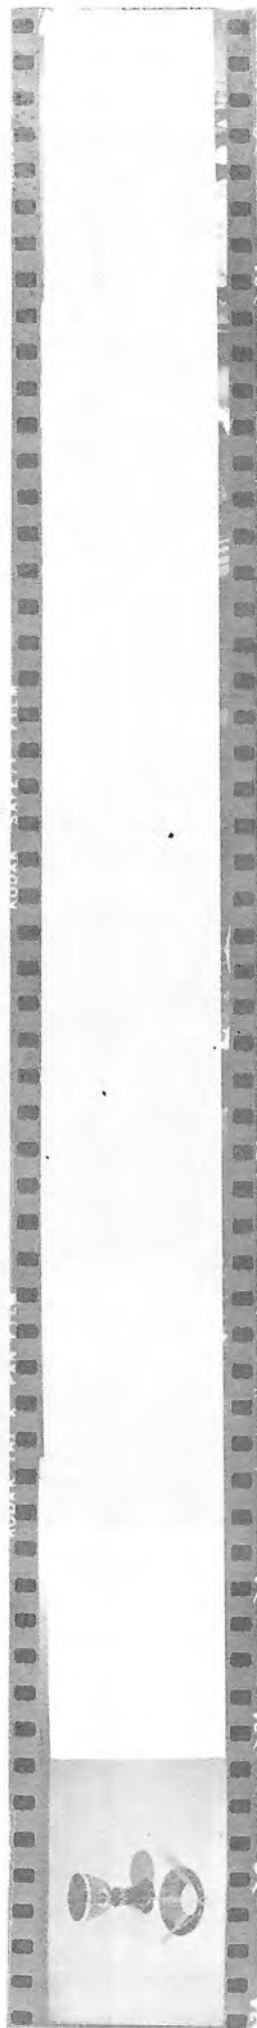

Fr. Muroski, other than being the Vicar for Vocations for the Diocese of Erie, also serves St. Mark's when it comes to liturgy and having the ability of operating the multilith. For this, and in all the other areas of service, recognition is necessary.

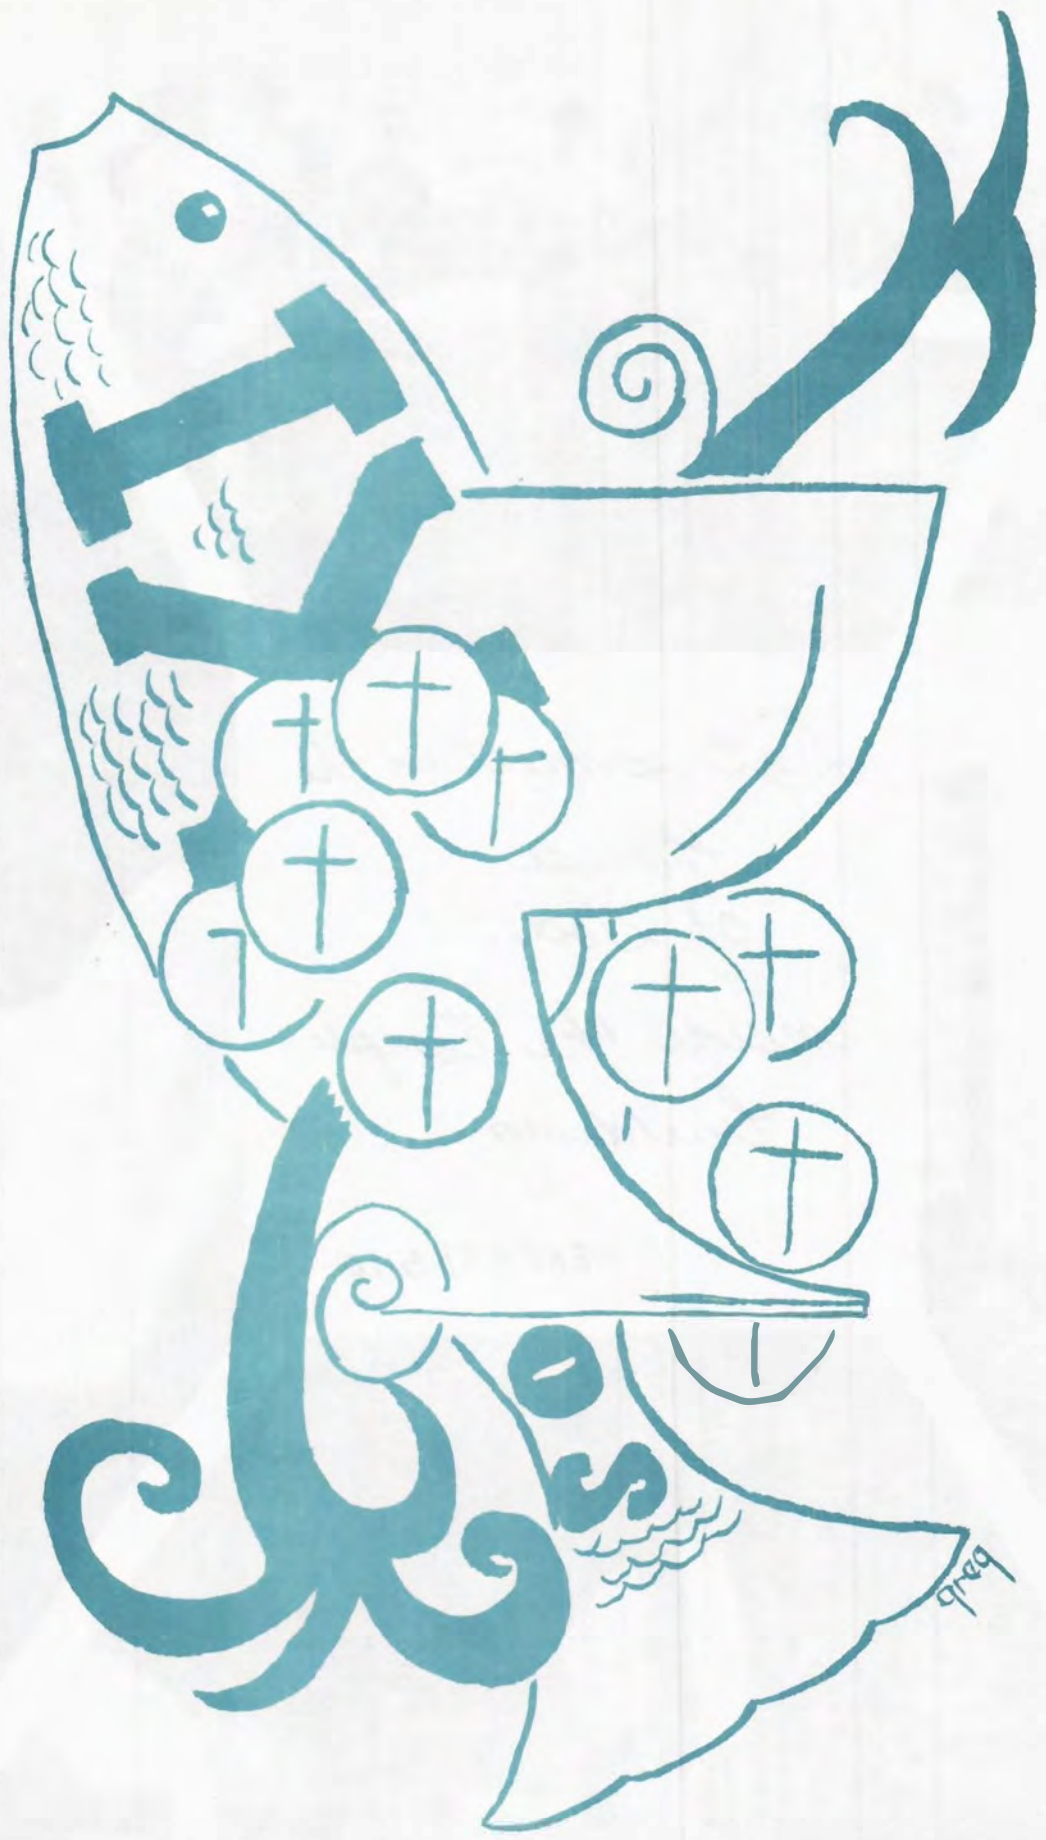

We, the Faculty, College and High School dedicate this, the 1976 VOCATI, to you in appreciation for the many years you have dedicated to us, the community of St. Mark's.

The Most Reverend Alfred Michael Watson, D.D.
Bishop of Erie

Now you boys are aspiring to the holy priesthood, and just a word of advise to you, always seek to do God's will, ask Him to help you choose the right vocation in life, and you will find it. Ask yourself do I pray enough, sincere honest prayer, do I love my fellow man. I'm afraid the old time prayers like the rosary are falling into disuse. Try to say a rosary or at least a part of it everyday, there is no more beautiful prayer than the Our Father and the Hail Mary.

Here's a little story I hope you will all enjoy. It will cover the pleasures and heartaches, the ups and downs, and the good times and the bad times of a bunch of young men who entered St. Mark's Seminary High School not so long ago.

It all started back in August of 1972. Nineteen eager, industrious, and intelligent boys entered St. Mark's as the class of '76. Soon it became apparent that the class was composed of young men with several different backgrounds. Jim Jockim proved his basketball ability by dribbling up and down the walls of the Seminary, but failed to dribble around the text books and soon dribbled himself right out the door. John Truchanewicz constantly tried to spread his athiestic ideas and George Carrigan proved that he could obtain a key to anything. . . except the key to Fr. Luzzi's heart! Bruce Knouse decided that the most significant use for the heater in Mr. Rouhl's classroom was to dry his hair after gym class. Oh yes, let us not forget that the number of High School rookies did not end at 19 that year. An older fellow began his career at St. Mark's back in '72. The fellow's name? None other then Rev. Thomas C. Kelley.

Dateline: August; 1973: Location: once again St. Mark's Seminary High School The Class of '76 returned, but in a little smaller quantity. The number went down to 15 or 16, no one could figure which because no one knew whether Howie Gault was coming or going. . . not even Howie himself. It turned out to be a year of learning things one may not have expected, nor wished to learn, specifically the facts on no-fault insurance, thanks to Marc McLaughlin. Tim Cook acquired a very unique type of phobia; "shirtaphobia." An investigation shows that the cause of Tim's illness was the fact that he didn't wish to reveal the amount of acne he possessed on his chest. Peter Stolz was the highlight of the end of the year as he represented the class by winning the most valuable underclassman in baseball.

Eleven members of the Class of '76 returned to the walls of St. Mark's to begin their Junior Year. Soon after the start of the school year, however, the class was blessed with the arrival of Bruce Radkowski to make it an even dozen. Bruce is gifted with many talents many of which he has not yet shown. But he's still working at it. By the beginning of the second quarter 11 of the 12 students in the class had become residents. Bill Shaw was the only exception. Rumor has it that he found the comforts of home more appealing. Even at this point in time, the class was awaiting the presence of Mark Phill. Mark Dombrowski altered tradition a little by rooming with a sophomore, Dennis Guilfoyle. Joe O'Connor showed his talents by winning a prize for his project in St. Mark's first Americana Intersession week. Again the class showed off its athletic ability during the year as Mark Dombrowski was the only seminarian to be a triple varsity letter winner. Jeff Shaw became the president of the student council, a position which all were sure he was both willing and capable of performing to the best of his ability.

The Class of 1976 is now completing its final step in secondary education. This has been, of course, one of the active years. Term papers, book reports, deadlines. The list seems almost endless. The class held its first retreat this year and it was more then successful. Four seniors helped to guide the basketball team to its first UAVL title ever. Tom Veith did most of the damage to the opponents as he compiled several scoring and assist records. But these were not the only type of records broken this year. Jim Minfkiewicz is taking a shot at the record for being caught room visiting the most times. Fr. Allison liked the way Kevin Dixon's radio sounded so he borrowed it for a couple of weeks. Being a kind hearted young soul, Kevin let him borrow it again a few days after it was returned. Contrary to popular belief, Jay Fuller still does not want to grow up to be an executive sportsman. A national top secret was disclosed when Pat Ochalek revealed that his brother is really working for the government as a bionic man. And Bill Shaw continues to insist that he wants to grow up to be a hermit.

This story is far from ended. The 12 seniors graduating from St. Mark's this year all have bright futures in store for them. As they go through life let us all hope and pray that they will live life to it's fullest and in the name of God.

Kevin Dixon
St. George
Erie, Pa.

"Kev" is probably the most knowledgeable guy on modern music in our class. He always tries to have the tunes playing and if he can't, is usually singing a good song. He loves the outdoors and really appreciates mother nature. He participates in intramurals and tennis and always tries to make a good showing. He's pleasant and easy going. Kev plans to major in biology and further extend his knowledge of nature.

Mark Dombrowski
St. Stanislaus
Erie, Pa.

"Dumbo" is very cheerful and works hard at everything he does. Mark played in 3 of 4 varsity sports and did well in each. He is very school-spirit-minded and has an enthusiasm which set many good examples. It was never hard for him to make friends and this gave him a lot of popularity. Mark plans to go into journalism and someday possibly become editor of his own magazine.

Jay Fuller
St. Theresa
Union City, Pa.

"Bagger" enjoys participation in everything and because of this has come to be known as the class "hot dog." He is very humorous and even though at times his humor baffles us, we have become accustomed to it. Jay has a deep appreciation and respect for nature and is right at home in the woods. Jay wants to major in ecology in college and hopes to become a forest ranger. In this way Jay feels he can help take better care of the environment.

James Mientkiewicz
Holy Cross
Fairview, Pa.

"Mink" is the class bike and auto nut. He loves to talk about anything to do with cars or motorcycles. He is kind and generous and always willing to give of himself. Mink, our class procrastinator, could always be depended upon. Jim plans to go into drafting and hopefully become an architect.

Patrick Ochalek
St. Lawrence
Cranesville, Pa.

Pat Ochalek - "Och" is one of your "smarter than average" sports buffs. He has extensive knowledge in many different athletic areas and also loves to play many different sports. He is always cheerful, easy to get along with, and willing to have a good time. Pat plans to continue his education in the world of numbers, as the field of mathematics hold his interest.

Joseph O'Conner
St. John the Evangelist
Bainbridge, N.Y.

Joe O'Connor - "Joeso" is fascinated by practically everything he sees. He has great patience, something he needs for some of the things he finds fascinating, and is unselfish in giving help to others. He enjoys good jokes and with Joeso, just about everything ends up in a joke. His sense of humor makes him a pleasant person. Joe is seriously considering the priesthood and his ability in math will carry him to great achievements in the future.

Bruce Radkowski
St. Joseph
Sharon, Pa.

"Moose" who came to our class in his junior year, fit right in and helped make our class known as the "Dirty Dozen." Even though his size may fool you he is very gentle and friendly. He played Basketball and was captain and only participating senior on the cross-country team. Besides all this Bruce has a great sense of humor. Bruce is now favoring oceanography and is looking for a promising career in the field.

Jeffrey Shaw
St. Sylvester
Woodsfield, Oh.

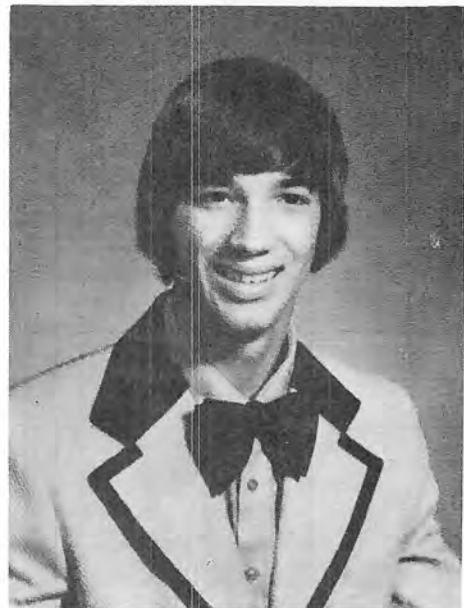

"Puss" for obvious reasons, is known as the class rowdy. He likes to expend his energy in many different ways, but probably the best was in his school work. A friend to the end, sincere, and a true leader, Jeff likes to get down to business. His academic excellence has given him much deserved recognition at St. Mark's showing that most of his energies have not been misspent. Jeff wants to continue his vocation in the priesthood for the Society for the Divine Word.

William Shaw
Mount Calvary
Erie, Pa.

Bill Shaw - "Bachman" is the big nature and music lover in our class. He loves to play the guitar and has written many of his own songs. He likes to take it easy and never lets things get him down. It's always a pleasure to have Bill around because he is very sensitive to others. He has shown this through his kindness and friendship. Bill wants to attend college in the Fall but as yet is undecided in what to major. We're confident, though, he will be very successful in his efforts.

Peter Stolz
Sacred Heart
Erie, Pa.

Pete Stolz - "Ace" has acquired more nicknames in his four years at St. Mark's than most anyone would have in a lifetime. The total is near 65. Pete played basketball and baseball and was co-captain of the baseball team. He can always find something to say and is easy to get along with. Pete's plans for the future are still open but he seems to have an open eye for the field of archeology.

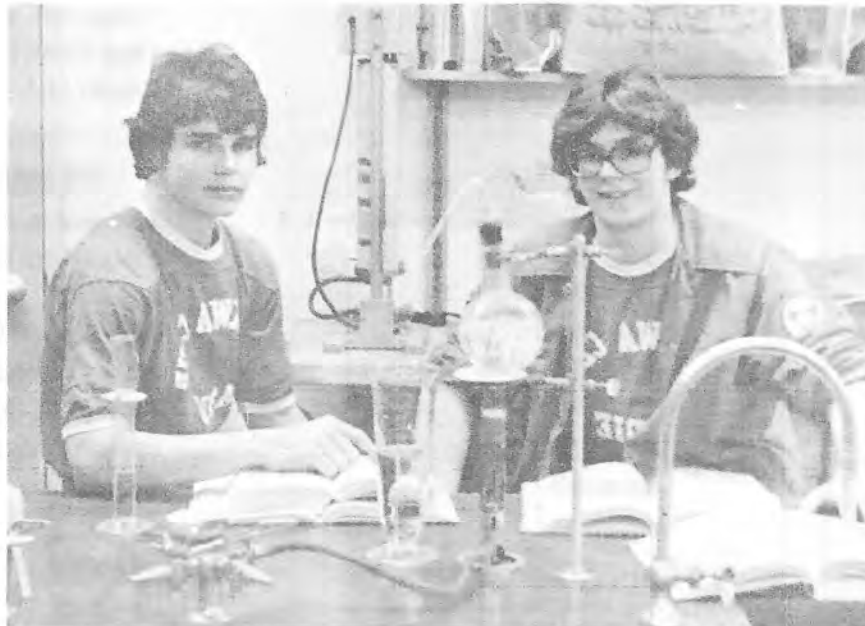

Thomas Veith
Sacred Heart
Erie, Pa.

William Veith
Sacred Heart
Erie, Pa.

Tom is probably the most athletic guy in our class. He was always good at whatever he attempted and always tried to do his best. He captained the Baseball and Basketball teams and played an important role in each. Tom is always willing to listen and take time out from a busy schedule. His many talents and friendly disposition enable him to get along well with everybody. Tom seeks the fields of mathematics and economics in what looks like a successful future.

"Barney" is the only member of the class who is a day-hop. Never known to be on time for anything, Bill is a very involved member of the school. He is very crafty and skilled and is always putting his talents to good use. Bill is a fine easygoing guy who appreciates a good time. He is always willing to help out where possible. Bill's plans for the future lie in the field of engineering. With his ability we're sure he will do well.

Concerning the mechanics of putting together a yearbook are never clearly understood by people receiving them. To put it briefly, it takes a great deal of time and patience. I'm glad to say, the numerous people that took time out of their busy day to work on this yearbook, dedicated one-hundred percent of their efforts to making it a reality. With this in mind, I would like to extend my heartfelt thanks to everyone mentioned, and also to those on the sidelines, silently giving their support and help. These people should surely be congratulated and given thanks. It has been a pleasure working with them, through the hard times and periods of laughter. Next year, Matthew Lukasiak and Donald Maus will be your editors. I hope you will give them the support you gave me. A special thanks should also be given to Fathers Luzzi and Muroski and also Bernie Mackowski-- without them, this yearbook could not have been here. Wishing you all God's blessings and success in the future, I remain your brother in Christ, Greg Buzzy.
